These funds help to underwrite the following experiences...
	2012 Goal
Summer Camp: Parents who understand that camp is more than crafts and sing-alongs are seeking ways to provide the character enriching experience only sleep-away camp can offer. Funds raised are designated to underwrite the individual camper experience.	$ 170,000
Military Resiliency for Youth and their Families: Research shows children of deployed military are struggling with high levels of anxiety. Camp is able to provide both resiliency workshops and peer support making a difference in the youths' quality of life. Two hundred children of Army Reservists and/or Military personnel will experience Camp through the combined efforts of grants and Camp volunteer fundraising.	$ 50,000
9Outdoor Education: How can we expect our youth to solve environmental issues when they have never explored the out-of-doors? Between "Stranger Danger" and busy streets youth have no time to wander the outside. This nation-wide reality has political and social leaders concerned about issues environmental, intellectual and social. Coupled with school districts desperate to reduce expenses, enrichment experiences like the ones over 7,500 5th graders experience each year through camp's Outdoor Education program are at risk. The hands-on investigation in an outdoor classroom has had profound effect on the student's comprehension of natural science and in ways students work together in the classroom. Teachers don't want to walk away from this experience because they believe Outdoor Education enhances learning and produces higher test scores. Camp offers financial support when the schools simply can't fund the whole experience.	$ 25,000
Family Camping and Community Events: Family camping is a highly subsidized program serving over 10,000 people and inspired by our desire to provide an affordable place for families to connect with each other, the outside world, and God's creation. Such programming includes individual family weekends, the Father/Child Adventure Camp program, and weekends for families with children with Aspersers Syndrome, Autism, Down Syndrome, ADD, ADHD and the like.	$ 20,000
Total 2012 Partners Goal	$ 265,000
